DISCLOSURE OF CLIENT INFORMATION:

We do not and will not disclose our client’s private (non-public) personal information obtained in our process to any third party, except as required by law. No third party will obtain information about you from Credpro without your written consent.

CONSUMER CREDIT FILE RIGHTS UNDER STATE AND FEDERAL LAW:

You have the right to dispute inaccurate information in your credit report by contacting the credit bureau directly. However, neither you nor any “credit repair” company or credit repair organization has the right to have accurate, current and verifiable information removed from your credit report. The credit bureau must remove accurate, negative information from your report only if it is over 7 years old. Bankruptcy information can be reported for 10 years.

You have the right to obtain a copy of your credit report from a credit bureau. You may be charged a reasonable fee. There is no fee, however, if you have been turned down for credit, employment, insurance or rental dwelling because of information in your credit report within the preceding 60 days. The credit bureau must provide someone to help you interpret the information in your credit file. You are entitled to receive a free copy of your credit report if you are unemployed and intend to apply for employment in the next 60 days. If you are a recipient of public welfare assistance or if you have reason to believe that there is inaccurate information in your credit report due to fraud. To receive a free copy of your credit reports go to: www.annualcreditreport.com.

You have a right to sue a credit repair organization that violates the Credit Repair Organization Act. This law prohibits deceptive practices by credit repair organizations.

Credit bureaus are required to follow reasonable procedures to insure that the information they report is accurate. However, mistakes may occur.

You may, on your own, notify a credit bureau in writing that you dispute the accuracy of information in your credit file. The credit bureau must then investigate and modify or remove inaccurate or incomplete information. The credit bureau may not charge any fee for this service. Any pertinent information and copies of all documents you have concerning an error should be given to the credit bureau.

If the credit bureau’s reinvestigation does not resolve the dispute to your satisfaction, you may send a brief statement to the credit bureau, to be kept in your file, explaining why you think the record is inaccurate. The credit bureau must include a summary of your statement about disputed information with any report it issues to you.

The Federal Trade Commission regulates credit bureaus and credit repair organizations. For more information contact: The Public Reference Branch, Federal Trade Commission, Washington, D.C.

POWER OF ATTORNEY:

I do hereby grant a limited power of attorney to CredPro and any persons of their employ or designees for the express purpose of preparing and signing all documents written with the intent of challenging and/or verifying information contained in the files maintained by the following consumer credit reporting bureaus: Equifax, Experian and Transunion. I have received and signed a copy of the Consumer Credit File Rights Under State and Federal Law.
